

AGENT AND PROCESS FOR ISOLATION OF EXTRA-CHROMOSOMAL NUCLEIC ACIDS

5

Thomas D. Reed

John R. Dedman

Marcia A. Kaetzel

10

Abstract.

The invention includes materials and methods for selectively isolating extra-chromosomal nucleic acids from biological materials. The extra-chromosomal nucleic acids isolated are obtained without the use of toxic chemicals or DNA-binding matrices, using a chaotropic agent as a final purification step. It is particularly suited for the rapid isolation of pure, intact plasmid DNA from bacterial cultures.

15